Provides in-depth, advanced instruction and practice in persuasive written and oral legal analysis, focusing on appellate advocacy techniques. Builds upon training provided in first-year writing courses. Among topics examined will be appellate brief writing, preservation of appellate issues, appellate standards of review, rhetoric and the canons of logic in the appellate context, and appellate oral argument. Students will be required to prepare at least one appellate brief and to present at least one appellate oral argument.
LAW 6930	Analysis and Drafting of Intellectual Property Transactions	2	Knight	Pre-Requisite: Legal Drafting. In this course, the students will develop an understanding of intellectual property transactions. The course is designed to benefit students who intend to specialize in intellectual property and those who do not plan to specialize in the field, since, in today's environment, almost every business transaction involves an intellectual property component. The students will identify issues relating to intellectual property transactions and will improve their abilities to analyze and articulate difficult contract provisions. The students will analyze examples of actual intellectual property contracts of major corporations. They will draft contract provisions that are commonly used in intellectual property transactions: a work-made-for-hire contract, a mutual confidential disclosure agreement, and a trademark license agreement. The students will engage in a mock negotiation of key provisions of the trademark license agreement in order to experience first-hand the perspectives and sometimes competing interests of the trademark holder and the prospective licensee.
LAW 6062	Business Organizations	2-3	Hurst	A consideration of the various forms of doing business, especially for unincorporated associations.
