LAW 6930	Advanced Legal Research	3	Rambo	Supplementing your first-year legal research course, this 3 credit class is designed to help you refine the fundamental skills you'll need for conducting legal research in law practice. You'll learn strategies for evaluating legal issues; and for conducting thorough, yet cost- and time-efficient, legal research. You'll receive advanced training in legal method; federal and state statutory sources; federal and state administrative sources; court rules; WESTLAW and LEXIS; and subject-matter research. The goal is for you to attain the legal research and problem-solving skills essential to the competent practice of law. The additional third credit earned in this section is through a paper written for the course.
LAW 6798	Advanced Legal Research	2	Wondracek	This asynchronous course will be conducted through UF's online courseware Sakai. Students must have continual internet access, preferably high speed internet access, and will be expected to participate in the class and complete homework each week. This course teaches strategies for cost-effective and time-efficient legal research. The course objective is to ensure that students acquire knowledge and understanding of the available sources for legal research, and the ability to develop efficient research strategies. It covers print and electronic research sources in depth, with an emphasis on primary and secondary sources in federal and state jurisdictions. Advanced topics examined include legislative history, administrative law sources, and subject-specific legal research. This course supplements the first year legal research program.
LAW 6799	Adv Techs In App Advocacy	2	Thomson	Prerequisite: Passing grade in Appellate Advocacy (LAW 5793). Provides in-depth, advanced instruction and practice in persuasive written and oral legal analysis, focusing on appellate advocacy techniques. Builds upon training provided in first-year writing courses. Among topics examined will be appellate brief writing, preservation of appellate issues, appellate standards of review, rhetoric and the canons of logic in the appellate context, and appellate oral argument. Students will be required to prepare at least one appellate brief and to present at least one appellate oral argument.
LAW 6930	Art Law	2	Cupples	This course is a survey of legal and policy-related issues affecting visual artists. The following are among the topics that will be covered: definitions of "art" in varying contexts, intellectual property rights, moral rights, right of publicity, First Amendment rights, art markets, and protection of cultural property.
LAW 6930	Asylum and Refugee Law	2	Ray	This course offers an introduction to asylum and refugee law and will cover topics such as the international origins of refugee law, persecution, gender-based asylum claims, and the process of asylum adjudications. Immigration law is recommended but not required for this course.
LAW 6940	Civil Clinic- Full Rep	4	Grater	Co-requisite with the Full Rep Lab section of this course. Not available to students who have taken Criminal Law Clinic (LAW 6942) or Mediation Clinic (LAW 6940). Must have completed 48 semester hours. Students participate in the conduct of civil legal matters under a scheme of systematic supervision combined with substantial related formal instruction. As Certified Legal Interns, students enrolled in the Virgil Hawkins Full Representation Clinic represent indigent clients in as first-chair counsel, from the initial interview through non-jury trial, primarily in family law cases. Enrollment is by application prior to advanced registration and is based on the same priority as Clinic Prep.

LAW 6930	Domestic Violence	2	Schrieber	This is a substantive law course in domestic violence. It is a 2-credit class, meeting twice a week for two hours each class. The first hour will consist of discussion based on assigned readings. The second hour will include a guest speaker, whenever possible. The course is required for those students doing simultaneous domestic violence externships and is open to others. The book is Domestic Violence Law , 2nd Edition, by Nancy K.D. Lemon, American Casebook Series, West Group, supplemented with relevant Florida cases and supplemental readings. The class will be letter-graded, on the mandatory curve. Grade will be based on a take-home exam consisting of a domestic violence situation that needs to be addressed.
LAW 6930	Electronic Discovery	3	Losey	Asynchronous Online: This is a three-credit online class in the field of Electronic Discovery law. There are no prerequisites, but Evidence is advised. The course is divided into four sections with 15 class modules in each section: First Section: 2 modules of video lectures only; 5 modules with videos and hyper-linked writings; and, 8 modules of hyper-linked writings only. Section Two: 3 modules of video lectures only; 1 module with videos and hyper-linked writings; and, 11 modules of hyper-linked writings only. Section Three: 3 modules of video lectures only; -0- modules with videos and hyper-linked writings, and 12 modules of hyper-linked writings only. Fourth Section: 5 modules of video lectures only; -0- modules with videos and hyper-linked writings; and, 11 modules of hyper-linked writings only. There are short supplemental research assignments given, and/or questions asked, at the end of each of the 60 modules. These assignments require preparation of a short email to Professor Losey to provide answers to the assignments. One to three sentence student emails are typical. Longer answers are discouraged. A phone conversation with Professor Losey at the half-way point in the course is also required as further described below. Final exams will be provided online. No in-person classes or meetings are required to complete this course, and there are no set times for attendance of the classes. The online modules will be available 24/7 during the entire term, but students are expected to pace themselves. Any last minute, end of the term completion of modules and assignments will be a factor in total grade evaluation. So too will the quality of the short email answers submitted to Professor. No text book will be required. All materials will be online. Westlaw or Lexis access will facilitate the supplemental assignments. Reliable Internet access is required. The online materials in the course may not be shared with others or copied in any way.

LAW 6930	Federal Criminal Law	2	Stinneford	Asynchronous Online: The objective of this course is to expose students to the substantive legal standards and the underlying policy questions surrounding federal criminal prosecutions, with a particular emphasis on "street" crime (violent crime, narcotics and weapons possession and trafficking), organized crime, domestic political corruption, and terrorism. Federal criminal jurisdiction has expanded enormously in the past thirty years (there are now more than 4000 federal crimes), and therefore the decision to prosecute a case federally often raises difficult practical, legal and policy questions. It is important that students who intend to practice criminal law obtain familiarity with these issues, because many traditionally "local" crimes are now prosecuted federally. The course will cover federal statutes relating to fraud, extortion, bribery, weapons and narcotics possession and trafficking, money laundering, terrorism-related prosecutions, and RICO. The course is intended to complement White Collar Crime (LAW 6116). This is an asynchronous distance education course, which will be accessible through the University of Florida's online course management system. Rather than attending class lectures in a physical classroom at a given day and time, you will be able to access the lectures online each week at times convenient to you. Grades will be based on student participation (measured primarily through your participation in an online discussion forum) and a final exam.
LAW 6930	FL Civil Procedure	3	Adkins, M.	This course surveys procedural law governing the litigation of civil cases in Florida. It explores in greater depth Florida state law counterparts to federal issues such as the judicial branch's control over procedure, personal jurisdiction, subject matter jurisdiction, and liberal pleading and discovery. It also examines the ways in which Florida's procedures differ from those of other jurisdictions and highlights some areas unique to Florida, such as heightened requirements for pleading punitive damages and the awarding of attorney's fees based on offers of judgement. Prereqs: Civil Procedure.

LAW 6940	Intimate Partner Violence Assistance Clinic	6	Drake	The Intimate Violence Assistance Clinic (IPVAC) is a new civil clinic. IPVAC uses an interdisciplinary team approach to assist indigent victim survivors of intimate partner violence (domestic, dating and/or sexual violence) with legal issues, safety planning, support and service referrals. IPVAC is a collaboration between the UF College of Law, UF College of Medicine, Shands Teaching Hospital, and our local nonprofit Peaceful Paths Domestic Abuse Network. The IPVAC team consists of Certified Legal Interns (CLIs), a social worker and an outreach counselor. Office hours are held at the Virgil Hawkins Law Clinic and in the Shand's ob-gyn and pediatric outpatient clinics, where the medical staff and clinic team members screen patients for domestic violence. This innovative clinical model is the first of its kind in the United States. Under the supervision of a licensed attorney, students will represent victim survivors in civil court on a variety of issues such as injunctions and family law matters.

LAW 6930	Legal Accounting	3	Willis	Elements of accounting; accounting terminology; interpretation of financial statements and audit reports; accounting problems likely to arise in a lawyer's practice. Designed for students with little or no accounting background. Students with more than six semester hours of accounting courses are not eligible for this course.
LAW 6383	Mediation	3	Davis, R.	This is a three credit skills course that will be highly participatory, with ample opportunities for students to "learn by doing." The first part of the course will provide instruction about mediation theory, procedure, and ethics. It will include understanding conflict theory, an in depth examination of the mediation process and the role of the mediator, different types of mediation, the interplay with the court and legal system, strategies for both the mediator and attorneys representing parties in mediations, and the drafting and enforceability of agreements. The second part of the course will provide opportunities to apply the knowledge learned and practice skills to allow students to develop their abilities and improve their competence as a mediator. Role plays and simulation exercises will be utilized that are based on the substantive content of the course. Students will also learn about other ADR processes, and there may be guest lecturers who are experts in various areas of ADR practice. There will be assigned readings and written assignments and exercises throughout the semester, and each student will be responsible for a Final Project (written and oral) in lieu of a Final Examination. Not available to students who have taken or are taking Interviewing, Counseling, and Mediation (LAW 6387); or Negotiation, Mediation, and Other Dispute Resolution Processes (LAW 6389)
LAW 6930	State and Local Taxation	2	Hudson	Nature and purpose of state taxation; comparison of property and excise taxes; uniformity of taxation; assessment and collection procedures; remedies available to taxpayers. U.S. and State constitutional considerations affecting state and local taxation.
